

Programme Outcomes, Programme Specific Outcomes
For PhD Programmes

ProgrammeName: Ph.D. IN HISTORY

Department of History
University of North Bengal
West Bengal, INDIA

Programme Outcomes:

- Provided the research students with an exposure to both the old and the recent trends in History writing.
- Preparing and motivating the students for exploring new areas of research.
- Developed a sense of critical analysis for utilizing the various sources.
- Provided students with an insight on some important contributions and significant Writings on Indian History.
- Provided the students with skills in quantitative techniques for an effective research-based utility.
- Added new knowledge in existing epistemology
- Learnt how to research while following ethics
- Made students cautious about academic plagiarism and how to avoid that
- Encouraged students for the practical implication of acquired and researched knowledge for social development

Programme Specific Outcomes:

- Provide advanced knowledge on the recent trends in History writing as well as research methodologies.
- Understanding the significance of holistic approach and critical analysis in research.
- Created skills for effective use of various primary and secondary sources.
- Introducing students with various themes in history writing and emphasis on local and regional histories as well.
- Equip the students with skills in quantitative techniques for an effective research-based utility.
- Added new knowledge in existing historical epistemology
- Learnt to do ethical historical research
- encouraged to write unbiased history while following the historical methods.